DUNCAN CLARK CLUNY OLD TIMER DIED LAST WEEK

Duncan Clark, beloved husband of E. Clark, died suddenly at his home in Cluny on Tuesday, April 17. Mr. Clark was taken ill about a month ago and apparently had quite recovered when he was stricken with a heart attack and succumbed in a few minutes.

Mr. Clark was born in Scotland and was a real old timer of the district having arrived here about the year 1883. He came by the United States to Moosejaw and from there to Blackfoot Crossing by Red River cart in advance of the railroad. Later he settled on a ranch on Crowfoot Creek.

He will be remembered by old timers as a breeder of prize Clydesdale horses, exhibiting at Calgary and Edmonton spring horse shows and succeeded in winning a good many shares of the prizes. From 1925 until 1945 he was farm instructor on the Blackfoot reserve at Cluny and was well liked and respected by all who came in contact with him.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife and three sons: Allan, Al Brooks, Ronald of Cluny and James of Calgary.

Among the beautiful floral tributes and expressions of sympathy the following were noted: "Wife and family, Sister Margaret, Mrs. C. E. and J. B. Clark, Bill and the Girls, Gleichens Old Timer, Mrs. Men's Association, Maple Leaf Truckers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gordon, Staff of Indian Reserve, 2 Blackfoot Indians, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bos, Mr. and Mrs. C. Beaudin, Mr. and Mrs. Krause, Mr. and Mrs. W. Prowse, Mr. and Mrs. A. Prowse, Mr. and Mrs. G. and Grace, Alice, Harry and family, Vernon, B. C., Mr. and Mrs. George Mosher, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Duncan, the Sharp and Gutzwill family."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davenport and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Gordon and family, C. Evans and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Knoffke, Veldkamp and Service Berry W. I., Mr. and Mrs. Moynier, D. Nelson, Mr. Somerville, W. Stewart, C. Herman, A. Maynard, L. Raymond, W. James, K. Goldsmith, W. L. Gordon, S. Kier, A. Peters, Chas. Schaefer, Mrs. A. Wertz, Mr. and Mrs. A. Corbell, Mr. and Mrs. C. Williams and family, G. Snideman, F. Palpourn, B. Reinecke, W. Hagerty, F. Beaudouin, Mr. and Mrs. A. Haudtler, Mr. and Mrs. H. Tabor, Mr. and Mrs. D. Nelson, Jr. and Mrs. and Mrs. Nowicki, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beattie, C. Young, F. Quon.

Flowers sent to the house included to Mother from family, Cluny W. I. Mr. and Mrs. A. Bremner, Louis Heng, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Graham, George and Gerald, Nellie and Alice. Funeral services were held in the Gleichen United Church, Thursday afternoon with Rev. Hunt, officiating. The church was filled to capacity with friends from many miles around. Interment was in the family plot in the local cemetery.

Fallowers were all old friends of the deceased, namely Mrs. P. Kelly, W. Palmer, G. Snideman, A. Peters, A. Palmer and C. Evans.

SCENIC HIGHWAY TO OPEN ABOUT MAY 15

Opening of the Jasper-Lake Louise scenic road by May 15 is scheduled, according to information which the Alberta Motor Association has received from federal authorities.

Providing that normal conditions prevail, there is no doubt that this popular mountain highway will be opened to traffic at the date mentioned.

This year an increased volume of motor travel is expected in the national parks. Thousands of people are planning to take advantage of the short distance drives, in view of the probable continuation of a rationing and the conservation regulations.

Consequently an increased volume of park holiday travel is planned. At Jasper Park alone, officials anticipate that the number of cars will double the registrations in 1944, though last year's shortage of gasoline and the conservation regulations.

Other national parks also are making plans to handle the increased number of visitors during the summer season.

Eighty percent of accidents are due to emotional disturbances, the industrial accident prevention association was told at its annual meeting.

SCHOOL NOTES BY PAULINE SUTERMEISTER

This week folks, instead of jubilantly proclaiming the accompaniment of G.E.S., I will skip over the school scenes with merely the statement that Hi-girls baseball team has been practicing.

Instead of dwelling on small town patter let us go to another scene, where there are no schools, no papers... nothing. There is no food, no medicine—people, children, Canadian soldiers too—are dying. Why must these things be? You know and I know, War today is for peace tomorrow—a sure and lasting peace.

V-E Day is another bridge on the road to victory. What can we Canadians, (let's make it more personal)—what can we in Gleichens do to speed this day? Why can't we? It has flashed on every bill board, appeared on every headline, is repeated constantly on the radio—BUY BONDS, BUY MORE BONDS, more and more and more!

It is your duty to Gleichens' "Johnny Canuck."

Have you bought a bond?

PAULINE SUTERMEISTER

FROM THE FILES OF THE CALL (TWENTY YEARS AGO)

G. O. Grey and M. Brower were at U. J. Davidson's last week bargaining for horses to rest to their spring work with.

Mrs. Cunningham has returned has returned to her home north of Gleichens after an absence of four weeks. We are glad to see spring here again. Many are starting to work in the fields. Mr. Sammons and Jack Mosher being among the first to start.

Phonetic Charting has finished his house on his farm and is very busy furnishing it now.

A large crowd attended the R. Wells sale. Everything sold excellently. Mr. Wells and family lately leaving for Detroit.

The board of directors have decided to paint the Meadowbrook hall in the following manner: roof, black; cornice, white body, cream; trim, dark and brown.

Clarence Dennis who has been working for George Yale during the winter months, has gone to Langdon, where he has engaged to work for this summer.

YOU NEEDN'T GET LIVING

Perhaps there isn't a thing you haven't been doing at one time or another on a second-hand purchase. Most people have bought clocks that would alarm, cameras that wouldn't click, mirrors that wouldn't reflect and chairs that collapsed, and have paid far too much for the experience. But it's not necessary any longer to get stuck for worthless junk. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has established new ceiling regulations on a variety of second-hand goods and must chains that collapsed. When in doubt get the list of prices from the nearest WPTB office.

This growing of wheat in Canada can be traced back approximately 340 years to the summer of 1605, when a French settlement in the Maritime put the first crop. Today one of Canada's leading export commodities, Canadian wheat, was being exported as far back as 1754 to the tune of 20,000 bushels.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS OF THE TOWN AND DISTRICT

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lyon of Turner Valley spent the weekend in town visiting her brother Major W. Taylor who recently returned from overseas after an absence of almost six years.

There was some excitement in town for a little while last Wednesday afternoon about three o'clock. Fire was discovered in the old coal shed behind the Sun Koe restaurant.

As is just behind the fire hall the brigade "busted" all records in getting the chemical engine to work. The fire was quenched in short order and only minor damage was done the coal shed. In fact it could without any repairs go on doing duty for another decade. The cause of the fire is unknown but it is thought a cigarette stub in the long grass adjoining the shed.

Mrs. Cunningham left on Sunday for the United States where she will visit friends and relatives for the next few months.

The Gleichen U.F.W.A. local met at the home of Mrs. L. Stolt with 22 members present. Mrs. Charnard read the Handicraft Bulletin and Mrs. J. Wilson read a paper on Canada the Unknown. Mrs. D. Yale had a pillow contest which was enjoyed by all. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lijla on May day.

For every dollar the CPR earned in 1938, it earned $2.75 in 1944. Gross earnings last year reached the highest in the history of the company when they totalled $281,871,000.

The Alberta Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, is seeking the help of all branches in an endeavor to try and find out how many crippled children there are up to the age of 16 years in the province. Orthopedic disabilities, poliomyelitis, rickets, osteomalacia, tuberculosis, hare-lip, club feet, cleft palate, and many others. If there are any crippled children in this district would you be kind enough to report the case to the local Red Cross Branch.

Under a new safety program, motor vehicles requiring repairs will receive priority attention at Canadian garages regardless of owner's residence, unless they are in the district there for repairs by police authority, it is announced. The prices board has arranged additional supplies of extra spare parts, and selective service assure garages of vehicle priorities for extra work entailed. First priority still goes to vehicles belonging to Canadian Armed Services, R.C.M.P. Ferry Command and the Auxiliary War Services. Except for safety repairs specified by the police department, special priority goes to holders of high category gasoline ration books and recipients of special benefits under the Transit Coupon Plan.

A sweet young thing grabbed a taxi downtown the other day and said to the driver, "Hold the maturity hospital, and never mind rushing—I only work there."

There are certain words that might well be deleted from use by our commentators in describing the advance of our troops. They are:

dash, surge, sweeping, plunging, rushing, racing. The truth is that very seldom, and never for long, does any advance warrant any of these words. Old soldiers laugh when they read them. Advances by an army are never greater for long than the speed at which infantry can march and that is at the most twenty miles a day. Tanks and trucks can, it is true, go forward faster for a few hours, but then they have to stop for supplies and until the infantry catch up. Over optimistic words and descriptions give a false impression to people. Such words make the people think that the war will be ended tomorrow and then many are inclined, because of this feeling, to slacken off their war efforts. War actually is a grim, tedious and low business. Well trained troops such as the Germans can always put up a fight when they feel inclined to do so. The war will never be won until the enemy is disarmed and behind barbed wire, and no one knows how long that will take. In the meantime, therefore, we must continue to the end of the road, working and producing to the very best of our ability.

IMPERIAL OIL ANNUAL REPORT

The annual report of the Imperial Oil is a dramatically illustrated booklet with pictures that cover the company's vast operations throughout Canada and in the South American republics of Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru.

In 1944 the Company sold nearly one billion 400 million gallons of petroleum products in Canada. For this it received 183 million dollars out of which it paid 128 million for raw materials, freight and sales taxes; $6 million for operating expenses, including wages, and nine million for income taxes. The net profit from producing, transporting, refining and distributing these products was under ten million dollars or equivalent to a little less than three quarters of a cent per gallon.

DEPARTMENT OF FISHERIES

Administration of all of Canada's ideal fisheries, those of Quebec excepted, is a major function of the federal Department of Fisheries, which also administers the non-ideal fisheries of Nova Scotia and those of the Northwest and Yukon territories.

Field officers (superintendents, inspectors, guardians) are stationed at appropriate places in the Maritime Provinces, British Columbia to carry out administrative and patrol services, but in the Northwest and Yukon territories, where commercial fishing is at present small scale, administration is handled for the department by R.C.M.P. officers. Inspection of fish products covered by the Fish Inspection Act and the Meat and Canned Foods Act is done by field men and by the scientific staff of fish inspection laboratories on the two coasts. Departmental employees instruct fishermen in fish handling and processing. Some 25 fish hatcheries and subsidiary establishments under this department aid in maintaining and increasing the stocks of commercial and sport fishes covered by the Fish Inspection Act.

Building, training, fishery construction, etc. Another branch collects and distributes information. Fish foods and their uses are studied by departmental home economists. As important wartime duty of this department is to supervise the arrangements under which great supplies of "Riches," said the teacher, "are upon themselves wings and fly away. Now, what kind of riches does this write mean?"

He staved around the class but only blank looks met his gaze.

"Surely someone can answer a question like that. John, what kind of riches did the writer mean?"

John hesitated for a moment and then answered, "Ostriches sir."

John D. Irish, the well known San Francisco orator, was entertaining the famous poet Jacques Miller. Upon hearing a particularly funny story by the host, the poet fell off his chair in a paroxysm of mirth.

Irish thought the poet had a seizure of some kind, and rushed to the side-board, took a bottle of whiskey, and stuck the top into Miller's mouth, hoping to revive him.

Presently Miller warmed his hands feebly and Irish moved the bottle. "What is it?" Irish inquired. "Remove the cork," "Remove the cork,"

Canada's Export Trade

THE PROSPECTS FOR WORLD TRADE in the years following the war are of interest to many nations at the present time. There are some who fear that there may be an immediate return to conditions of unfriendly rivalry and "cut throat" competition such as have existed in the past, and which without doubt were among the causes which led up to the Second World War. There is good reason to hope, however, that recommendations made at the Dumbarton Oaks Conference, and the principles laid down in the Atlantic Charter, will be taken into consideration when international trade relations are again established on a peacetime basis, and that the mistakes of the past will not be repeated. On the success of this undertaking will depend the economic well being of millions of people, and in a large measure, the hope for permanent world peace.

New Markets In The Future

As a result of wartime industrial expansion Canada is now one of the world's greatest producing nations, and as such, has a vital interest in the future of international trade. Obviously, one of the greatest sources of demand for some time to come in Great Britain and Europe for food and other Canadian products. It is also expected that there will be equally extensive markets for our goods in the Orient and in South America. In order to successfully maintain these markets, however, Canadian economists point out that it will be necessary for us to produce goods which are acceptable on foreign markets. They also warn that if we hope to export on a large scale, we must be prepared to export, especially from those countries whose financial resources have been seriously depleted during the war, and who will be averse to building up large unfavourable trade balances in the future.

Producers Must Work Together

The question of increasing our imports is an involved one, bringing up such subjects as large scale immigration and other methods of creating more buying power here. Less complicated is the problem of producing goods acceptable to those countries who are our customers. In this connection, H. C. S. H. Baxton, Deputy Minister of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, recently appeared to Canadian farmers to plan their production this year with the needs of Britain in mind, since that country now constitutes a large and important market for Canadian food products. Dr. Baxton's appeal for farmers to take measures to increase livestock production to meet the needs of Britain in this, and succeeding years, is an example of how Canadian producers may work together to keep our country at a high level, and thus benefit themselves and the nation as a whole.

Cause Of Shortages

Due To Greater Demand And Decreased Production Of Goods

Last year Canada produced 9,000,000 pairs of children's shoes, as compared with 5,000,000 in 1939, and children's underware production was 45 per cent higher than before the war, "and production cannot be further increased at present." These facts were pointed out at a recent meeting of the Toronto Consumer Bureau Committee liaison offices in W.P.T.B. offices.

Reasons for shortages in these and other commodities, they explained, is increased consumer demand for better things and distribution difficulties. People have more money to buy better shoes for their children, for instance, and busy war-time mothers have less time to make, patch and mend their underware.

The climate on the Pacific coast has a great effect on the cotton shortage as uniforms "just rot and have to be replaced at a tremendous rate," stated Mrs. DeLaurier, speaking of shortages in general.

Looking at the overall picture and taking into consideration Canada's country has few shortage problems, she said.

Speaking of the changed attitude of the Canadian people in regard to rationing now compared with early days she said the W.P.T.B. members is due largely to the concerted action of its women representatives. "You women have shown us that it is not smart to go and spend money recklessly, to chisel the extra pound of butter," she said. But rationing almost broke down at one point because of this petty chiselling.

Made Big Mistake

Japanese Admirals Thought War Would Bring Them Some Applause

It is said to have been the Japanese navy, particularly the Japanese admirals, who influenced the government to embark on the war with the British Empire and the United States.

While the navy was more or less in the background, so the navy wanted an outlet.

The rivalry between the two services is of long standing. Both services were interested in the expansion of the Japanese sphere of influence. They only differed as to the means. The army thought Japan's future lay in the Asiatic mainland—in Korea, Manchuria and China proper. The navy looked farther afield—to the Dutch East Indies and Malaya.

The army, within a dozen years, had succeeded in creating two incidents—the Mukden incident of 1931 and the Marco Polo Bridge incident of 1937—which had resulted in the addition of large areas of territory to the empire. The navy was hungry for "battles" and Pearl Harbor was its bid for them.

The Japanese admirals were behind the war, but what a price they have paid for their ambition! According to the Tokyo radio, two more of them have met death in action. This brings to 84 the number of Japanese admirals who have lost their lives since Pearl Harbor—Vancouver Daily Province.

The Monetary Symbol

Is No Good When People Lose Confidence In It

The only reason a farmer accepts a dollar bill for his bushel of wheat is that he has confidence that some day he will accept the dollar bill for something the farmer wants to buy. If he lost confidence in the dollar bill he would just keep his wheat until he could trade it straight across for what he needed—which would be most inconvenient. Those who talk glibly about issuing money promiscuously forget what happens when the money loses faith in the monetary symbol.—Lethbridge Herald.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Will I be able to obtain ration books for my son's wife and baby who just recently arrived from England?

A.—If your daughter-in-law will either go to the Local Ration Board, or mail identification papers, such as ration cards, to the Local Ration Board, ration books will be issued to her and the baby.

Q.—I purchased an Easter gift for my little boy. It was a small toy car, a few candies and a chocolate bar, all of which were wrapped in cellophane. I am sure the price charged was fair. Of reason, the gift packages not controlled by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

A.—Yes, the prices of gift packages made up for special days, such as Halloween, Christmas, Easter, Mother's Day are controlled. The maximum price of gift articles thus assembled and sold as one unit must not exceed the total of the retailer's lawful established prices of the individual items assembled in gift wrapping materials used. No charge can be made for labour or assembly.

Q.—How can I pick out the manufacturer's number in the lining of shoes? My shoes which I purchased a month ago, appear to be of very poor quality leather and I have been unable to get the dealer to return them. The shoes were made in the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's manufacturing plant.

A.—After January 1, 1945, all footwear manufactured in Canada will be given a code number. The number will be preceded by the letter "C" and will range from K-100 to K-346 inclusive. It is on the degree of quality should be made to the Standards Division, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Ottawa.

Q.—Are garden seeds controlled by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board?

A.—Yes, there is control of seed prices. Prices of plants, trees, shrubs and other nursery stock is exempt from the price control.

May Use Radar

Driving In Fog Could Be Made Safer For Motorists

British automobile manufacturers are experimenting with equipment which will enable automobile drivers to see in fog and know whether traffic lights are against them before they are reached. Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of the industry's public relations committee has been talking about the automobile of the future.

"Safe driving even in the most impossible" he said. "Curb cameras, operating in conjunction with receiving sets on dashboards, will guide drivers in fog." This would mean that a driver would be employing the blind landing technique used to bring planes onto an airfield in the dark.—Brandon Sun.

The British Army

No Finer Troops Ever Battled In A Better Cause

If success is the test, there can be no disputing Sir James Grigg's claim that our army was equipped "no British army has ever been so well equipped before." He quoted some observations of Field Marshal Montgomery about the superiority of our tanks over those of the enemy, which will convince everyone except, perhaps one or two critics who are insensitive to persuasion. However, authoritative the evidence against them. When the Field Marshal says that if it had not been for the help of British tanks on December 16 he would have reached the Meuse in 36 hours, and that if the 21st Army Group had been equipped with German tanks they could not have crossed the Seine when they did, they must close the argument for all reasonable people. Whether it be equipment, or in training, or in spirit, no finer army ever battled in a better cause than the British Army today.—London Daily Telegraph.

SMILE AWHILE

Customer: "We've got rid of that pretty assistant you had?"
Druggist: "Yes, all my male customers kept saying that a smile never was as good as a tonic!"

"There's a boy called John Simpson who lives here. May I see him?"
"You're just missed him. He's gone to your funeral."

Little Susie was extremely nervous.
"Mother," she said, "I feel nervous."

"Nervous?" exclaimed mother, in mock alarm. "What's the matter?"
"Why it's being in a hurry all over," the child replied.

He: "Why is it that a girl can never catch a ball like a man?"
She: "The man is so much easier to catch."

MacTavish, the salesman, called at the factory manager's office and asked to see the president of the company.

"Have you a card?" asked the secretary.
"Yes, I have that," replied MacTavish, "but I'll have it handed."

"You said you were in this office? Well, what can you do?"
"Nothing."

"Why didn't you apply sooner?"
"All these high salaries positions were taken long ago."

"Is there anything you fancy to eat before the execution?" asked the warden.

"Yes, mushrooms," said the condemned man. "I've always been poisoned to try them in case I'd be hanged."

Judge: "It seems to me I've seen you somewhere."
Prisoner: "You have, your Honor. I gave your daughter singing lessons."

Judge: "Thirty years."
Seventeen mothers in the village mothers club agreed to decide by ballot which had the handsomest baby.

"Well, who got it?"
"Each baby got one vote."

Caller: "Is the loss in?"
New Office Girl: "Are you a salesman, bill collector or a friend of his?"

Caller: "All three."
New Office Girl: "He's in a business conference. He's out of town. Step in and see him."

A London doctor was prescribing for a small girl.
"My child," he said, "the trouble is with our little tummy. We must diet."

"All right, doctor," the docile child sighed. "What color?"

Pat was engaged putting a water main into the porhouse. Saturday came and the boss saw Pat deliberately examining his pay packet. "Mistake in your wages, Pat?" he asked.

"Oh, no," said Pat, "but I was just wondering whether me or the water would be in the porhouse first."

MUST BE GOOD STUFF

The yarn may be old—70 years old at that—but it's still serviceable. At least that is what John F. Gross, Brazil, Ind., decided when he gave a knitted red scarf he had worn for 70 years, to be ripped up and used as yarn for the 44th regiment. Brazil war mothers knit for sick and disabled soldiers.

A TOUCH OF CANADA—

Capt. P. M. Hamill, officer commanding No. 3 Admin. Unit, C.W.A.C. Regina, and recently returned from a tour of duty overseas, found a home one day in an A.S. Barracks in Wales. On the wall of one of the huts was a map of the Prairie Provinces. It may have been hung there by a girl who hoped to come West some day with her Canadian husband or by one whose British friend came to train in Canada. Whatever the reason why it graced the wall by her bunk-side, to Capt. Hamill was a "piece of Canada" and a welcome sight to home-hungry eyes.

THE ROAD TO HAPPY RE-ESTABLISHMENT

The first depot rehabilitation work for servicemen has been opened in Toronto for members of the C.W.A.C. The new wing, aimed at putting them on the "road to happy re-establishment" was organized by Major Phyllis Arnold, Officer Commanding, No. 102 Depot Coy. Whether their future lies in business or professional careers or in home management the girls are given personal interviews with service counsellors and when they leave referred to one of the civilian rehabilitation centres being set up across Canada by the Department of Veterans Affairs. Pictures are given them on various topics, most popular being mothercraft, household management and housekeeping. Explaining the purpose of the rehabilitation work, Major Arnold declared, "We want them to know that their voluntary services for their country were appreciated and that they have a friend here to ease the transition from military to civilian life."

Carefully chosen staff workers include two Saskatchewan girls, Sgt. Joan Battman, Toronto and Yvonne Baskin, and Pte. Margaret Thomson, Bordenland, Sask.

Munitions Minister Says Production Will Be Continued in Canada

Manufacture of a four-engine bomber, larger than the Lancaster, will start at Victory Aircraft. Government-owned Malton, Ont. plant, Munitions Minister Howe announced in the Commons.

Mr. Howe did not disclose the exact type of plane, but he said during 1945 the Malton plant would shift from Lancaster production to that of the new and larger "plane which he referred to as the Lincoln.

(It was recalled that in London it was recently announced that Britain had started work on a new four-engine "plane comparable to the American Superfortress.)

Mr. Howe also disclosed that an improved model Mosquito bomber would come into production during the year, and that output of the Curtiss dive bomber would continue at its present rate. There also would be continued production of the Harvard, a secondary trainer, and the Norseman, used as transport "plane.

Empire Forces in the Pacific

SENATIONAL AND SWIFTLY moving events in Europe have tended to monopolize the public interest, and the war in the Pacific, in the opinion of many, had less than the share of interest it has deserved. American forces have fought in great numbers in this theatre of war, and it is possible that many in this country have not realized the extent to which the British Empire has taken part in the struggle against Japan, while carrying on the war in Europe. The British Ministry of Information has, however, recently published some interesting facts concerning the part played by Empire forces on the various fronts in the Pacific war, stretching from the Hawaiian Islands to the South Seas, and we are reminded that Canadian, Australian, New Zealand, Indian and West African troops have all fought at the side of British and American forces on the many sectors of this great war front.

Many Troops In Far East

Few Canadians need to be reminded of the part played by troops from this Dominion in the gallant defence of Hong Kong. Canadian soldiers likewise formed the greater part of the forces which drove the Japanese from the Aleutian Islands. The Royal Canadian Air Force also took part in this action. Australia, whose interest in the war in the Pacific is a vital one, has made contributions "out of all proportion to their resources." Mr. Herbert Morrison, British Minister of Home Security, reported that during the campaign in New Guinea, Australia supplied the greater part of the manpower and most of the equipment for her own soldiers. He further stated that in the whole Far Eastern theatre, taking British, Australian and Indian troops, the British contribution in manpower is comparable to that of the United States. At the beginning of this year, five-sixths of the land forces in the Southwestern Pacific were Australian, and they were responsible for many important successes, among them the capture of Buna, Milne Bay and Sonanda.

Solid Basis For Victory

The Royal Australian Navy has also contributed much towards the Allied success in the Pacific. In addition to its work in transporting Australian troops and equipment to the battle area, it has taken part in many of the assaults against the Japanese, including the attacks on Guadalcanal. The New Zealand Navy has likewise taken part in many actions in this area, and New Zealand ships have been responsible for the sinking of a number of Japanese submarines. The air forces of both Australia and New Zealand have won many brilliant victories over the enemy, and have also done extensive reconnaissance. In the campaign in Burma, crack Indian troops fought beside British Divisions and in this campaign there were also troops from West Africa who are known as the best jungle fighters in the world. It has been predicted that Empire forces in great strength will be sent to the Pacific when they are no longer required in Europe, and they will find there many of their comrades who have laid solid foundations for victory.

Where Premiers Lived

Canada's Prime Ministers Have All Owned Homes in Ottawa

Sir John A. Macdonald when he was prime minister bought the stately residence called Earncliffe overlooking the Ottawa river, with a view of Parliament Hill. It is now the home of the British high commissioner. Sir Wilfrid Laurier lived in an old-fashioned brick residence on Sandy Hill. It was generally believed that it was left by Sir Wilfrid on the death of Lady Laurier as the home of the head of the Liberal party. This is not correct. It was left by Lady Laurier to Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King and is his present home. He has lived in it ever since. Sir Robert Borden purchased a fine old stone residence when he was opposition leader, also on Sandy Hill overlooking the Rideau river. The high banks leading down to the river were reserved for wild flowers by Sir Robert, who was an amateur botanist. It is today the residence of the Chinese minister to Canada, Mr. Arthur Meighen, during his term of premiership and party leadership, lived in a very humble home in downtown Ottawa. Lord Bennett has owned a suite of rooms in the Chateau Laurier, —London Free Press.

Leaving Canada

Director Of United Kingdom Information Office Returns To London

Mr. M. R. K. Burge, director of the United Kingdom Information Office in Ottawa, is leaving us, returning to the International Labor Office in London whence he came. That is the I.L.O.'s gain, our loss. For Burge was a different sort of information officer man, singular in that he didn't imagine his job to be in some way connected with censorship. He wasn't afraid to talk, and he didn't go around pompously or taking himself seriously, as though locked within his breast, and all but killing him, were all the secrets of the High Command. Burge, in short, was a human being, with a grand sense of humor, a sense of proportion, and a pretty well was saying, but that mattered little, one feeling sure that he was saying something wise or witty, any way.

A cynic friend of ours once remarked (he was of Scots or Irish origin) that he was always waiting for the sort of Englishman who had built up the British Empire. He should have met Burge. For he would have found in him the sort of Briton who is a citizen of the world, taking all sorts of things and people into his places in his stride, as many of our people do. He was a man on the Strand, wide and humorous and understanding and tolerant.

Good-bye, Mr. Burge, and good luck to you. Here in Ottawa, should you come back to us, there will always be a welcome for you.—Ottawa Journal.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—I have one room and the use of a kitchen to sublet in my house. Will you charge weekly. How much notice must I give the tenant?

A—You must apply to the rental administration for a license of rent. An appraiser will call and inspect the premises and advise you of the maximum rental which may be charged. You must give your tenant six months' notice to vacate, and this notice must not terminate between September 30 and the following April 30.

Q—I wish to sell my car. May I sell it privately or must I give it to a dealer to sell for me?

A—You may sell it privately. A signed statement of sale with all details including the name and address of the owner and purchaser, etc., must be filed within four days of the date of sale with your nearest Board office. The car must be sold at a price higher than the retail price set by the Motor Vehicle Controller. No person, other than a dealer, shall purchase more than one used passenger motor vehicle in a calendar year, which means that if a person has acquired a used passenger motor vehicle in the past calendar year he cannot sell the automobile but cannot accept another passenger motor vehicle as part payment in the same year.

Q—May one man buy ammunition on his gun registration card and another person who wishes to use it?

A—No. Hunters' ammunition purchase permits are only issued to the owners of guns against their gun registration certificates. Permits are not transferable.

Q—Is there any way in which we could have a remake cent started in our country?

A—If you would write to the Secretary of the Consumer Branch, care of the Board of Inland Revenue, 100 King Street West, Ottawa, Ontario, regarding the remake cent.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumer's Guide to the Board of Inland Revenue" (the book in which you keep track of your purchases) to the nearest Board office in your province.

Synthetic Quinine

Seen To Aid To Eradication Of Malaria After War

Elimination of malaria in civilized countries of the world after the war with the aid of atabrine, a synthetic quinine substitute, is visualized in an official report by the U.S. National Research Council's Board for the Eradication of Malarial Diseases. Large-scale production of quinine or totarine, a form of quinine, is not now considered important for the management of malaria in armed forces personnel.

"The post-war world, with the knowledge now available about this drug (atabrine) and on methods of malaria prevention, should be able to eliminate malaria from every civilized nation. That would be, indeed, a blessing derived from the most devastating and costly war the world has ever known."

Must Keep Navy

Canada Cannot Afford To Repeat It

As Expensive Lesson

Hon. Angus Macdonald, Navy Minister, speaking recently at Port Arthur, expressed the urgent hope that never again would the Canadian Navy be allowed to fall into the state it had to endure in the 1900's and 1910's.

"The achievements of Canada's sailors in this war," he declared, "should be a constant inspiration to us and the founders of the navy, so gallantly fought not to be allowed to crumble and disappear."

It is the plea of the man who knows by intimate information the full degree to which the navy has shored this country and aided its allies. And it is a plea that needs to be made. For now there is no time to anticipate the clamor for economy at the expense of security that will follow immediately after the war is over.

Such clamors have always been heard in time of peace. Then the absence of enemies in the foreground is presented as proof that there are no enemies, and a navy, not in actual combat, is presented as an expensive liability. It happens that just such a clamor was being raised in the British Parliament one hundred years ago this month. The London Times, roused by the danger, gave its warning in words that have meaning in our own day.

"Economy is a good thing, and a popular thing; but economy has been found to be in the end an expensive virtue; and the policy which is founded on no other merit than that of having saved money at the expense of the navy, is a policy of national honor, is as feeble as it is contemptible. The most expensive warfare in which a country can be engaged is that in which it is involved without adequate preparation."

A nation like our own, boasting the longest extends from the sea into the sea, cannot with safety rely on its own defences, nor with honor have its defence to others.—Montreal Gazette.

Fur Trade Prosperity

Combination Of Good Prices And Substantial Catches

Federal officials today look beyond the moon-day sun to the cold star of the fur trade, and saw fur trade prosperity. If all goes well, they expect 1944 to be a richer year than 1943 when the value of Canadian fur production, representing pelts sold from fur farms and those caught by trappers, was $27,094,164, a record and a half more than in 1942.

Some 40 per cent of the total represented the catch taken by Indians, Eskimos and white trappers in Canadian outlands.

For two years, the hunters in most regions have enjoyed the unusual combination of good prices and substantial catches. Now they suspect they are getting close to the end of a fur cycle, and that animals soon may be scarce; but if the 1944 catch is good almost every one will be able to put something away for a rainy day.

W. M. Ritchie, chief of the agriculture department fur inspection and grading service, says the "fur industry" is in a healthy condition both from the viewpoint of those engaged in fur production on fur farms and in trapping and those in the fur manufacturing and retail trades. "He said he estimated fur farming now represents an investment of about $40,000,000. Property came to the fur trade in recent years due to a general shortage of raw furs and to a higher ratio of employment."

Irony Of War

That Paris And Rome Enjoy Uncatched Wild London Suffered Damage

England, of which London is the heart, has lost homes and hospitals, beauty and history, as well as lives. Through every wound peeps horror. It is the irony of war that the city that the French, who did not fight for their capital, recovered it with its historic beauties unscathed while Rome, a city constantly stained with war-guilt from the Abyssinian and the Spanish war in the first half of 1910, emerged with a scar as a result.

Look To The North They Will Remember

The Necessity For Development Is One Of Urgency

It is not news that this country has revolutionized geographical thinking. Mercator's Projection has become somewhat outmoded in studying the map of the world, and a new type of albertminded people are using charts that offer a more accurate view of this globe.

From east-west thinking, Canada must turn more to north-south thinking. A broad hint to this effect was given by President Roosevelt in his Breckenridge speech. He spoke of Alaska and the Aleutians as "automatic stepping stones" to the Far East, and of the necessity of developing the northwest as an administrative and defense area.

According to The Evening Citizen's Washington correspondent, R. T. Bowman, the President feels very strongly, but it is too polite to say that Canada has not kept up-to-date in its development of her northern areas, especially in an administrative way. Canada implies that Canada should take parallel steps with the United States in this problem of the new northern routes and defensive frontiers.

The subject brought by President Roosevelt is vital to Canada. The Citizen has time and again pointed to the lack of imagination towards the north in Ottawa departments. The matter should receive attention from parliament. That it has not done so—except in the form of solitary voices from isolated members—is a reflection upon all parties, and particularly the party in power.—Ottawa Citizen.

Duck Population

Less Hunting During The War Has Caused An Upheave In Numbers

The war has brought abnormally low hunting pressures, causing still further surge in duck populations. They now are so numerous that the wintering grounds are heavily utilized, and considerable agricultural crop damages have resulted. Many species leave the water and invade fields of cultivated crops. Game laws, in fact, are especially liable to damage, and serious losses frequently occur.—Calgary Herald.

The Way It Works

Air-Conditioning In Washington Gives Doctors Good Business

An engineer of the Navy Department building in Washington got a letter the other day to come to a room on the second floor, raise the temperature in an overhauled, air-conditioned suite, reports Drew Farnham. Arriving at the room, the engineer was surprised to learn the man who had complained was Polar Explorer Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd. Washington doctors say their summer business has never been better since conditioning his capital. Lt. Earle Mayfield, son of Texas' ex-senator, came to Washington's air-conditioned hospital from the coast, and to the hospital on a pneumonia stretcher.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND CLAIMANTS

IN THE ESTATE OF Henry E. Reimann (Reimann) late of the Port Office of Gleichen in the Province of Alberta, farmer, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that all persons having claims upon the estate of the above named Henry E. Reimann (Reimann), who died on the 10th day of May, A.D. 1941, are required to file with the undersigned administrator by the 25th day of May A.D. 1945, a full statement duly verified of their claims and of any securities held by them, and that after that date the administrator will distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having only regard to the claims of which notice has been so filed or which have been brought to his knowledge.

DATED this 9th day of April 1945
E. D. HENDERSON,
Acting Administrator of Estates of the Mentally Incompetent for the Province of Alberta, Administrator of the Estate of Henry E. Reimann (Reimann), Deceased, Provincial Building (Edmonton, Alberta).
E 3328

Canadian farmers are confronted with a rare opportunity to do some effective planning in their own interest and in that of the nation. W. D. Albright declared recently in Alberta. Canadian farm income, which reached a low of $388,000,000 in 1938, has risen to $725,000,000 in 1939 and to $1,748,000,000 (estimated gross income) in 1944. While a good deal of the income is represented by price increase, volume has held up well. Every important wartime call upon Canadian farm production has been substantially met or more than met in spite of labor shortage and the shortage of new machinery. But while magnificent record was being achieved the farm plant has been running down at the heels, and this cannot go on forever. It is good time for each farmer to sit down and carefully consider a definite plan for the future.

looking toward the improvement of his farm enterprise, improvement of his family and the possibility of setting aside something or a nest egg and keeping it as a reserve against contingencies. Victory Bonds are the ideal means to these ends but it must be remembered that $1 will not do the work of $2. Each farmer must consider what he needs most. Perhaps it is a well or a dug out, or water on tap in the house, or a new barn, or a new house or a new tractor, or some good stock. Make a list of the desiderata and review it carefully.

And don't be in too much of a hurry to spend it all. There may be a buying spree after the war as there was after the last war, in which case prices will strain the controls. Some of the dollars may buy more if they are held two or three years after the war. By buying bonds now and thinking out a careful plan of using the proceeds later on we may not only help win the war but help to win the peace as well.

The man's aspirations of himself are always believed; of himself never.

Democracy

Democracy is government by the people, with the people possessing entire control and equal rights in all that concerns or belongs to the state. Its government, with the consent of the governed, who express their will through the vote.

The infallible test of democracy is the liberty of the individual to speak his mind at all times and in all places on matters of public interest. He may elect the leader of the state, his parties and his policies or, privately and publicly, he may roundly condemn them. The individual citizen may support the party he has freely chosen or, if no existing group pleases him, he may start his own political party.

This wide liberty accorded to the individual is the very essence of democracy. On this, all other rights within the democratic state are based. Take this individual liberty away, or take any small part of it away and democracy decays.

Democracy is humanity, it is compounded of nobility, selfishness and error. It was introduced to mankind by Cleisthenes of Athens, just before the beginning of the Golden Age of Greece, 2,400 years ago. Since that time it has flourished, faded, died and been reborn in many parts of the world. Ever has it remained the ideal and hope of men everywhere who are wise, tolerant and just.

In one short lifetime, Canadians have seen the great democracies of Europe pass away. Four centuries before Christ the philosopher Plato, described the process. "Tyrants spring up as from a storm, one is usually chosen a leader, someone bold and unscrupulous, who curries favor with the people by giving them other man's property. He surrounds himself with an armed guard, and emerges as a tyrant over the very people who raised him to power."

Now untold millions of disillusioned Europeans are looking to the democratic New World for political salvation and the restoration of their freedom.

In the classic definition of democracy are the words: "... the consent of the governed ... through the vote." To those who live under democracy, then the prime object of every citizen is to use his ballot. To vote in every election—whether it be municipal, federal or provincial.

Let every Canadian pause and think for a moment about the form of government under which he lives. It is a system that has made Canada great and kept Canada free. Except among our friendly neighbors to the south no other people have as much as we small vote, preserve democracy by voting for it.

Your Victory Loan Salesman Will Call on You Soon . . . Give Him a Friendly Welcome

Everybody knows what a comforting thing it is to have money here. So, in most homes, the Victory Loan salesman gets a cordial welcome. He offers an opportunity to you to help your country's war effort by just saving your money. In case of emergency you can get cash for your bonds at any bank; . . . but you know that when you put savings into Victory Bonds they will likely stay there, intact . . . drawing good interest. Your savings are protected from your own temptation to use them. Buy all the Victory Bonds you can, with all the cash you have.

Buy More Victory Bonds on the Deferred Payment Plan With Money as You Get It.

And, to give yourself an objective to add to your savings, obligate yourself to buy more Victory Bonds on the deferred payment plan. Make a first payment of 10% or more when you order the bonds . . . and pay the balance with money as you get it, over a period of six months. Your Victory Loan salesman will give you a copy of the letter on the right. It is a request to your bank to buy bonds for you. Any bank will lend you the money to do this and the interest the bonds earn pays the interest on the bank loan.

Once Carried Tourists

Canadian S.S. "Prince Henry" Now Serving With The Royal Navy
The "Prince Henry," which has been turned over to the Royal Navy for service against the Japanese was once the flagship of the Canadian National Steamship fleet carrying thousands of tourists along the Pacific Coast to Alaska. Built in British Columbia, England, she was launched in 1930, christened by Miss Isabel Macdonald, daughter of Ramsay MacDonald, then Prime Minister of Great Britain.
Built at about the same time were her two sister ships, the "Prince David" and the "Prince Robert." They were hailed as "the embodiment of everything that is the latest in ship construction," with luxurious accommodation for 374 first-class passengers. All three went to war and played a prominent part in the invasion of Europe.

WOMEN IN AIR TRAVEL

A survey by the Air Transport Association at Washington reveals that women hold one-third of all jobs in United States civil aviation and that 20 per cent. of air line passengers are of the weaker sex. There are 8,000 stewardesses, but women are in almost every phase of the industry except actual flying of planes and their number is constantly increasing.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

REMEMBER THE DATE

By MARCIA DAUGHTREY

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Ned Norton felt fine. He was getting home early for a change—it was only fifteen minutes to six. The late afternoon was crisply sunny with spring. Business was good, the office was humming, and he was in love with his wife—a neat number named Blaire.

In addition to all that, he had sort of a minor romance. Not exactly a romance, either, because there was nothing serious on either his or the distasteful side. Still, there was something intensely pleasant about getting into the elevator at noon without knowing whether Miss Hathaway was the person who had rung the down button on the fifth floor. Sometimes it was; sometimes it wasn't.

But when it was she who stepped on the elevator, Ned unconsciously squared his shoulders while an inner tension began to ring. Nothing to it, really, he tried to tell himself—ignoring the warning.

Certainly, she had superb auburn hair; of course he liked to have the boys at the office chuckle afterward. "You certainly did sit opposite a nice dish this noon, Neddie old pal. How about giving a bachelor a break and waiting along some day?"

He could almost hear his ego purr. "Just an old friend of the family," he'd say, grinning. And back into the recesses of his mind marked "blivion" he would tuck a haunting memory of the way he had felt when a tendril of her perfume had floated past his nostrils; also of the way she sometimes looked up at him now—days. It was all quite innocent, really.

So Ned Norton felt fine as he slammed the gate and scraped his feet off the curbside, entering the service porch, not because his shoes were soiled but because this was another of the small habits he had brought intact from a dominated childhood. Perhaps Miss Hathaway was his life's only rebellion against material and wifely authority. A rather fragile rebellion at that, he thought.

"Oh, beautiful," he called when the closed kitchen door brought no treble about of greeting. He waited then sang out, "Come out, come out wherever you are."

Still no answer. That was odd. Blaire never planned to be away in the afternoon without telling him in minute detail where she was going and how long she would be gone.

Wandering into the living room, Ned found a chair on top of the lounge, and a vase topping the chair. In the vase was a note. That was Blaire for you; leave no stone unturned, it was so much emphasis that he took one on Ned could miss it.

Ned was laughing silently as he unfolded the page glancing at the ornate backband: "Darling: I love you with all my heart, but sometimes I wonder how you feel about me. I'm going away a little while to find out. Blaire."

Ned turned the note over and studied the blank opposite side as if he had come across an anagram whose answer would be found on the reverse. Then he returned to the script and read it again. Yes, it was exactly the same as it had been on first perusal.

This was fantastic. It was unbelievable. Blaire—leaving him. What for?

They had heard their arguments of course—who didn't? The overwrought household account months before last, for instance. He had been rather autistic about it, he remembered. "Either you live within the budget, or I'll handle all the finances," he had threatened.

Blaire had pouted for a day, then had fun saving back the overdraft by feeding him fantastically cheap meals for a week. Good, though.

Warm-hearted and sentimental; prankish and full of laughter—that was Blaire.

Abruptly, Ned sat down in the nearest chair as perspiration broke out on his forehead. Someone had been snoring taking Miss Hathaway to lunch on four times last week. Someone had been dog enough to tell Blaire, and Blaire, not least that she had walked out on him without even a request for explanation!

Now that he thought of it, the thing would have been difficult to explain. How could a man say, "I'm already in my blood. I'm a victim of the moon. No, that wouldn't do. Silently, he began cursing himself as a fool.

Well, he'd have to do something.

Dialing savagely, he called the station to check on northbound trains. Then he called the airport on the chance that Blaire had taken it big. He hung up in the middle of a series of frantic questions when he heard a suppressed chortle behind him. "Did I scare you?" giggled Blaire.

With one powerful gesture Ned gathered her into his arms and kissed her as he hadn't since honeymoon days. "What...? In...? The... world..." he murmured between kisses.

"April Fool! April Fool! Oh, Ned, if you could have seen your face! You looked as guilty as Jack the Ripper."

For an instant Ned was angry from his damp forehead to his chilly feet. He had an urge to turn her over his knee and give her a royal spanking. Yet—if it hadn't been for his preoccupation with Miss Hathaway, he would have seen through Blaire's April stunt instantly. Maybe there was simply one of life's stoplights.

"The next time you pull a stunt like that," he said severely, "I'm going to tan your trousers. But to-night I'll take you out to dinner—and that's what no April fool joke."

Will Take Years

Reconstruction Work In Liberated Europe Is Tremendous Task

It is estimated that it will take two years to rebuild the Ludendorff bridge at Remagen, over which the Allied forces in the west made their first crossing of the Rhine but which has since been wrecked as a result of enemy action. The estimate of two years to rebuild this one bridge gives some idea of the tremendous task of reconstruction which awaits Europe. In the liberated lands there is a vast deal of work to be done. This is perhaps especially true in war-torn Poland, Russia, Belgium and Holland.

SPRING TONIC FOR WINTER

Has spring fever hit your household? If so, your appetite may be a little lacking. For that we prescribe a change. A change of scenery to your menu.

Your family is accustomed to finding their breakfast cereal in a bowl. Surprise them some morning soon and serve that cereal in muffins. Those same crisp all-wheat flakes which taste so good with milk make grand bases for a flaky muffin. They can be stirred up in a jiffy and baked in twenty short minutes.

Wheat Muffins

2 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
1 cup all-wheat flakes
1/2 cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup shortening and sugar thoroughly add egg and beat well. Stir in slightly crumbled all-wheat flakes and milk. Stir flour, salt and baking powder together; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full; bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Yield eight 2 1/2-inch muffins.

A Letter of Appreciation "to the many friends of Wrigley's Spearmint, Doublemint and "Juicy Fruit" Chewing Gum

WRIGLEY'S
CHEWING GUM MANUFACTURERS

We want to thank all the people here at home for the fine spirit of understanding shown us since we told you that, for as long as possible, all the very best gum we could make would go only to our Armed Forces overseas and at sea.

With this in mind, and so that there can be no misunderstanding, we want you to know that we have now used up all our pre-war ingredients and that we have stopped making the well known trademarked brands of Wrigley's Spearmint, Doublemint and "Juicy Fruit" even for the Armed Forces overseas.

There will be no more chewing gum of these three famous brands and flavors for anyone until we can again make gum worthy of these brands and labels, which have always been your trademark of uniform, finest quality and flavor.

Until we can bring back Wrigley standard brands we are making a plain but honest flavored chewing gum to help take care of both military and civilian needs. We are offering this gum to the public only on its own merit and for that reason public only associated with any Wrigley standard brand but has its own brand name and flavors.

A Significant Name

Japanese Empire Founded in Yamato Province in 660 B.C.

The name Yamato has a deep, almost religious significance for the Japanese, the Associated Press recalls in connection with the sinking of the battleship Yamato. Japanese battleships are named for the provinces of old Japan. These names do not appear on most maps, since the old provinces have given way to prefectures.

Yamato was on the peninsula just south of Osaka. It was there, according to legend, that the first Emperor, Jimmu, founded the Japanese empire in 660 B.C. From Yamato the ancestors of the modern Japanese apparently spread out to conquer the other islands.

Yamato therefore is the ancient name for Japan itself. The Japanese call themselves the Yamato race, and attribute to the name all the martial virtues they believe themselves to possess.

The Yamato was 900 feet long, of 45,000 tons, carried 16-inch guns and was capable of a speed of thirty knots. Roughly equivalent to the American 45,000-ton Iowa, both in age and characteristics.

There had been two ships of that name in the Japanese Navy. Her sister ship, the Musashi, was sunk in the Second Battle of the Philippines Sea last October.

GARDEN NOTES

Flowers Have A Place

Home-grown flowers cannot be considered as luxury. The real gardener will find a place for them. In the growing of beautiful flowers is more than just a hobby or recreation. It is the gardener's natural craving to create something with his own hands and out of his own brain—it provides a tonic for war-torn nerves. The actual cost in dollars and cents is negligible. A few packets of seed at a total cost of a quarter will provide wealth of bloom in some acre drab, neglected corner into a riot of color and beauty—will help us forget the fact that long week-end motoring or distant holiday trips are out until the Nazis have been put in their place.

Hardy Ones First

The first vegetables and flowers that are planted are those which are hardy. These will stand a little frost. Some indeed will stand quite a lot and even a heavy snowfall or a week's return of winter after planting will not hurt them.

Both garden and sweet peas are in this category. Both of them must get their first growth when the weather is cool and moist; otherwise they won't develop a sufficient root system to carry them through hot weather. Grass is in the same class. One can hardly get the new lawn or the annual patching of established lawns done too early, though the ground level before the seed is sown. This last caution naturally applies to new lawns more than patching.

Other early vegetables that will stand some rough weather are spinach, radish and lettuce. Among the flowers are cosmos, marigolds—there are several species—poppies, alyssum, any of the perennials, nursery stock, etc.

For Early Crops

Usually there is one corner of the garden which dries up first in the spring and here, if one wants to make the earliest start possible, is where first vegetables should be planted. But it is most important, so say those who are garden experts, that the soil be really fit to work. If it is the least muddy then it isn't ready and there is nothing to be gained, and much injury may result if digging or plowing is done too soon. Heavy soils, especially if cultivated while still wet will sink into hard lumps and may take weeks or even months of hard, back-breaking digging to break them up fine again.

MACHINE IS CHEAPER

A newly invented British pipe-cleaning machine was recently used to scrape a 16-mile strip of water main. This work normally took 65 men 32 days, at a cost of 20 cents a yard. The machine accomplished the whole in 18 hours (spread over at an approximate cost of two cents a yard).

PLASTIC SURGEON

Considered by his colleagues to be the most brilliant plastic surgeon in Canada, and one of the most brilliant in the world, Lieutenant-Colonel Stuart Gordon of Toronto has recently taken over the post of surgeon in charge of plastic surgery at Christie Street Hospital and adviser in plastic surgery to the Director-General of Medical Services for the Canadian Army.

In 1941 Colonel Gordon was placed in charge of the Canadian Army's first overseas plastic surgery unit, where he personally handled the first facial casualties to come back from Dieppe. In May, 1943, he was put in charge of all plastic surgery at the famous Basingstoke Hospital in England, and came back to Canada last August to take over in Canada.

There are three Joint Services' Special Treatment Centres in Canada, in Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver. Canada's facilities for repairing mutilated service men are second to none in the world.

Said an army surgeon attached to these units, "Plastic surgery has, since the war, advanced to a point it would have taken perhaps 100 years to reach in times of peace. So fast is the technique we have developed up-to-the-minute 18 months ago have. In many cases been so far surpassed as to be regarded now as obsolete."

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Duncan Clark and family wish to thank all friends for floral tributes, expressions of sympathy and help in their recent and bereavement.

Mrs. D. Clark and Family.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

The home front has an important battle to win; it is the Victory Loan campaign. Victory Loans provide the sinews of war. The obligation is strictly up to every individual to "dig down to the last copper to see that every last piece of equipment is provided to the lads overseas from the dollars that are available here in Canada.

Victory Loan campaigns are a war time activity into which any citizen should throw every last degree of energy without considering the political implications of his action. Victory Loan Bonds represent the common means by which all can harvest in practical fashion, the inner prayer and wish for victory.

The Victory Loan campaign is sponsored by our government—our government until a new one is elected—and no effort should be shirked or evaded because of political considerations. The election date comes later, and any antipathy to the government should be expressed then, and not before, particularly in response to the Victory Loan appeal.

There can be no let down in our efforts on the home front. The prize is too great, and, in view of the superb organization and the human lives at stake, let no one on the home front do less than the last best effort.

In that last fragile moment of reaching for victory, let it be said that anyone on the home front faltered or failed.

What every housewife should know...

about
SUGAR FOR CANNING

For tasty, nourishing and economical winter desserts, most Canadian housewives will again do some preserving this year...jams, jellies and all kinds of fresh fruits.

Sugar is still very scarce. We must continue to conserve our supplies. This year, the allowance for home canning will be the same as in 1944—ten pounds per person. Be sure to use your ration sparingly.

HOW TO GET SUGAR FOR CANNING

Instead of special home canning sugar coupons, twenty extra preserves coupons in Ration Book No. 5 are being made available for the purchase of sugar for canning.

These coupons are good for half a pound of sugar each or the stated value in commercial preserves, for they are the same as any of your preserves coupons.

You may see any other valid preserves coupons to purchase sugar, also at half a pound each.

No exchange is necessary. Your grocer will accept any valid preserves coupons when you purchase sugar for canning.

There are now only two kinds of coupons for sugar. The regular sugar coupon, good for one pound of sugar, and the preserves coupon, worth half a pound of sugar.

SUGAR FOR CANNING COUPON CALENDAR

USE ONLY AS REQUIRED

The twenty extra preserves coupons for sugar for canning will remain valid until declared invalid by the Ration Administration. You do not have to use them immediately. You will be given plenty of notice of their expiry date.

RATION ADMINISTRATION

GUARD YOUR RATION BOOK

If you lose your ration book, the extra preserves coupons which have already been declared valid will not be replaced. It is up to each consumer to look after his or her ration book.
